Southern California Quarterly (ISSN 0038-3929, e-ISSN 2162-8637) is published four times a year (February, May, August, November) by University of California Press, 155 Grand Avenue, Suite 400, Oakland, CA 94612-3764, for the Historical Society of Southern California, P.O. Box 93487, Pasadena, CA 91109, phone (323) 460-5632, www.socalhistory.org. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Southern California Quarterly, University of California Press, 155 Grand Avenue, Suite 400, Oakland, CA 94612-3764. E-mail: customerservice@ucpressjournals.edu.

The Historical Society of Southern California was founded on November 1, 1883, and incorporated February 13, 1891. It has enjoyed an unbroken record of continuous activity and growth. The Historical Society of Southern California maintains the historical Lummis House at 200 East Avenue 43, Los Angeles, CA 90031. A list of books published by the Society with prices is available on request from the Society. Commencing in 1884, and each year through 1934, the Society issued an Annual Publication. In 1935 the Quarterly was initiated. The Society's publications through 1976 have been described in a concise abstract of articles and separately indexed by Anna Marie and Everett Gordon Hager (comps.), A Bibliography (1958), The Topical Index (1959), and Cumulative Index (1977). The current issue and all back issues are available online through JSTOR to members of the Society and through subscribing libraries.

CONTRIBUTORS

Erica J. Peters is the author of San Francisco: A Food Biography (Rowman & Littlefield, 2013) and Appetites and Aspirations in Vietnam: Food and Drink in the Long Nineteenth Century (AltaMira, 2012) and co-editor of French Historical Studies Vol. 38 Num. 2 (Spring 2015): Special Issue on Food in French History. Peters received her bachelor's degree in history and literature from Harvard University and her doctorate in history from the University of Chicago. She has published numerous articles on the history of food and drink and has presented at conferences across the United States and abroad. Peters is the director of the Culinary Historians of Northern California.

Merry Ovnick is the Editor of the Southern California Quarterly and an emeritus professor of history at California State University, Northridge.

Natalia Molina is the Associate Vice Chancellor for Faculty Diversity and Equity and Associate Professor of History and Urban Studies at University of California, San Diego. Her work sits at the intersections of race, culture, and citizenship. Her first book, Fit to be Citizens? Public Health and Race in Los Angeles, 1879-1939, garnered the Hundley Award from the American Historical Association. In her newest book, How Race Is Made in America: Immigration, Citizenship, and the Historical Power of Racial Scripts (University of California Press, 2014), Molina uses a relational approach to race and coins the term racial scripts to highlight the ways in which the lives of racialized groups are linked across time and space and thereby affect one another, even when they do not directly cross paths.
